

PRAZERES PIRES DOS SANTOS DESTOLIANO

(Class of 2024)

Embarking on educational journey can feel both exciting and daunting. Especially if you've been idle for a few years, as was my case. However, if you want to know one thing, it was worth it, and I couldn't have made a better choice. Master of Public Management and Administration (MPMA) program at Rikkyo University is a step filled with incredible potential. The MPMA offers a unique blend of rigorous academic training and practical experiences that prepare you to tackle real-world challenges in public administration and management.

As you contemplate your application, remember that you are not just choosing a program but also joining a vibrant community of like-minded individuals who are passionate about making a difference. The opportunities to engage with faculty who are experts in the field, learn alongside diverse peers from various backgrounds, and participate in hands-on projects are invaluable.

As a “survivor” of the course, let me briefly share my experiences and thoughts about the program. The supportive environment at Rikkyo fosters personal and professional growth, helping to develop the skills and knowledge essential for effective leadership in public service. Whether you're passionate about policy development, managing non-profit organizations or increasing efficiency in the public sector or a data enthusiast like me the MPMA program will empower you to make impactful contributions. Take the leap, accept the challenge and consider joining us for this transformative experience.
